Confined Spaces OSHA required training
Updated

Breaches in OSHA's Confined Space standard cause nearly 100 fatalities annually. It's estimated that nearly 85% of these casualties could be avoided by following basic procedures. The Safety Council's Confined Spaces program meets all of OSHA's training requirements. Note: for all authorized employees this training is required before assigning related duties and whenever certain changes occur in the workplace.

What you'll learn:

During this program you will learn all the required, as well as the most relevant and current topics, in OSHA's regulation 1910.146 (Confined Spaces), including:

- Key elements of a permit-required Confined Spaces program
- How to identify and evaluate hazards
- Use of proper protective equipment
- Duties of the entry supervisor, entrant and attendant
- Rescue Procedures
